

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE (1/2013)

Michael J. Baun is a Professor of International Politics at Valdosta State University, where he teaches international and comparative politics in the Department of Political Science. He has published widely on the EU and European politics, including several journal articles on EU cohesion policy. He is the author of "A Wider Europe: The Process and Politics of European Union Enlargement" and "An Imperfect Union: The Maastricht Treaty and the New Politics of European Integration". E-mail: mbaun@valdosta.edu

Dan Marek is Lecturer in European Politics at the Department of Politics and European Studies, Palacky University, Czech Republic. His teaching and research interests include EU's Regional Policy, EU's institutional reforms, and EU's external relations. He is an author of numerous articles published in various professional journals (Journal of Common Market Studies, Journal of International Relations and Development, Publius, Regional and Federal Studies, Journal of International Relations etc.). E-mail: dmarek@tiscali.cz

Markéta Šmydkeová is a Ph.D. candidate at the Faculty of Arts at the Palacky University in Olomouc, Czech Republic. She is interested in study of the Uzbekistan and its key role for geopolitical game in the Central Asia. Email: marketa.smydkeova@upol.cz.

Jeremy Garlick is a Ph.D. candidate at the Department of Politics and European Studies, Palacky University, Czech Republic. His research is focused on the analysis of EU-China relations. Email: jeremy.garlick@upol.cz.

Pavol Baboš and Lenka Klimplová are Ph.D. candidates at the Department of Political Science at the Comenius University in Bratislava, Slovak Republic. Email: pavol.babos@uniba.sk, Lenka.klimplova@uniba.sk.